

Luis Ramirez

Junior Full Stack Developer

About me

I have recently graduated from Le Wagon's Ruby on Rails coding school in London. Always had a passion for tech and I decided to switch career paths after realising how much I enjoy coding, building products and prototyping. I am used to work in environments where attention to detail, delivery, product quality and team work is critical. My goal is to work in a challenging and creative environment that encourages teamwork, learning and development to produce innovative tech solutions.
